Reds Use PWs To Prepare for World War III

By JAMES C. CROCKETT, Col., U. S. A., Ret.

In 1948 when I left the Soviet Union, there was no indication that the several million German prisoners of war that the Russians had captured would be returned to Germany.

I saw these prisoners, pale and hungry-looking in bedraggled uniforms, working in all parts of western Russia on such jobs as building apartments and country houses (dachas) for Russian officials, constructing roads and railroads, unloading ships, working in factories, mines and forests. I even saw one group working at a race track. Not infrequently the foreman on a construction project was a German prisoner.

Col. James C. Crockett

Near the collective farm where I lived for six months there was a large prison labor camp. At night some of the German inmates were permitted to wander around the countryside. I talked to many of these men and certainly their appearance gave proof to their claims that they lived on starvation rations. Often they told about the utter ignorance and backwardness of their Russian bosses.

Is asked every prisoner I met about his officers. Not one of them had ever seen or heard of his commander since being captured. What has become of the thousands of German officers who were captured by the Russians? I was never able to find out. I heard rumors that some of them were being used as instructors in the various Russian military schools and that others were receiving special Communist political instruction in preparation for their use in the Soviet zone of Germany. Whether or not these rumors are true I do not know.

The only time I saw any German officers in Russia was on 17 July 1944, when the MVD marched 57,600 captured Germans through the streets of Moscow.

MVD police officers mounted on horses led the parade. There followed 19 German generals and a group of several hundred other German officers. The remainder of the group were captured German enlisted men.

Neither on that day nor at any other time did I see the Russian people give any indication of hostility toward German prisoners. On the contrary, I frequently saw Germans talking with Russian men and women in a friendly way. Often Germans walked unguarded on the country roads.

Several times when I was making purchases in a store and my broken Russian marked me as a foreigner, a Russian customer would think I was a German, would speak to me in German and try to help me.

I remember one time in a gastronom (Russian grocery store) in Moscow, a Russian thinking I was German, insisted on going to each department with me, selecting the proper articles of food and checking with the cashier to see that I was not cheated. I had a hard time shaking myself loose from the Russian because he wanted to be friendly with the Germans.

In Ukrainia and in Belarussia, areas occupied for a long time by the Germans, I was surprised at the number of Russians who were friendly towards the Germans despite their occupation of the territory.

In my conversations with German prisoners, I learned that about half of them had fought against the British or Americans but at the end of the war they had returned to their homes in the Soviet Zone. In spite of this they were taken prisoners by the Russian MVD and sent into the Soviet union.

German scientists were seized with their families and brought to Russia to work on definite projects. Here they must remain within the locality to which they are assigned. By Russian standards they receive fair pay but are not allowed to leave their work or associate with Russians or foreigners. Their mail is censored and they are constantly watched. They are prisoners of the MVD secret polcie.

I once remarked to a high Russian official that he could not get certain valuable information from a German prisoner who was thought to have it—that he was not required by the laws of war to tell.

The official smiled knowingly and said, "Oh, yes, I can. He will tell me all. The MVD will see that he does."

German scientists all have been brought to Russia against their will. At least that is what the ones I talked to told me. At first their work was poorly done and they continually complained "alles ist caput" (all is finished). The MVD had much difficulty with them, not because of their resistance but because of their passiveness. They seemed to be in a daze.

After the MVD removed some of the restrictions, brought the prisoners' wives and families to the villages where they were housed, established special stores where they could trade and increased their rations, there was a great change in the Germans. They were still unhappy but began to work hard and were having great success in their scientific research.

It is no secret that the Russians captured the German atomic scientists of the Charlottenburg Institute in Berlin, physicists and jet propulsion scientists in other parts of Germany and the German rocket experimental areas in Poland and Penemunde on the Baltic.

These men are experimenting in Russia at Tsagi aerodynamics institute in Moscow and at other places. All the resources of the Soviet Union are made available to assist them in producing super destructive war weapons. At the same time the Communist regime and the MVD are putting pressure on the scientists to speed their work and to produce weapons more deadly than those in possession of their capitalist enemies.

In a remote area north of Moscow, 67 German mathematicians are housed in a large building, which is supposed to be the administrative offices of a big industrial establishment. These mathematicians devoted their entire time to problems relating to long range rockets. The whole area was under MVD guard and neither the workers nor their families were allowed beyond its boundaries.

In another direction, outside of Moscow and in an area similarly guarded by the MVD, a group of German scientists were doing experimental work on the theory of light.

A Russian scientist I knew had several German scientists working with him. They were engaged in biological research. He and his co-workers were under close MVD surveillance. He is one of the few Russians I knew who later escaped to a foreign country.

The German scientists and technicians have leading parts in the experimental work being done on war material in the Soviet union.

Together with their imaginative Russian co-workers—all prisoners of the MVD—they will produce weapons which will increase the Soviet's war making powers and hence endanger the civilized world.

In next week's Nugget I will tell you about the churches and religion in the Soviet union.

Nevada City Grass Valley NUGGET

Volume 22, No. 61 — NEVADA CITY (Nevada County) CALIFORNIA — Friday, November 4, 1949

JUVENILE HOME CONFERENCE IS SET FOR NOV. 14

The Nevada county board of supervisors will meet with members of the county probation committee, Probation Officer Thomas Barrett, Superior Judge James Snell and the grand jury's detention home committee on Monday, Nov. 14 to begin a study on possible future establishment of a juvenile detention home in the county.

Mrs. Marie Williford and Mrs. Freda Becraft, representing the grand jury detention home committee, appeared before the supervisors Wednesday. They asked about possible building sites and available funds that could be used for the construction or purchase of a detention home.

Mrs. Williford, emphasizing the need of prompt action by the board, court and probation authorities, stated Grass Valley had 26 juvenile cases the past month. Most, she said were released to their parents because they are too young to be jailed.

Mrs. Williford stated a county curfew ordinance passed in 1946 had not been enforced. She added that the sheriff and the district attorney said they knew nothing about it.

Financing completion of the Grass Valley Memorial hospital now under option to the Sacramento Catholic diocese was introduced by Rev. M. J. O'Sullivan, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, Grass Valley, and William Esterly, representing the hospital steering committee studying ways and means of raising $350,000 for the building.

The board stated no county funds were available and suggested the possibility of a hospital district.

The board will meet again on Monday, Nov. 14, and it asked Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins to appear at that meeting.

Charles Mendonca, operator of a service station on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway, complained to the supervisors he held three gas thieves at bay for 45 minutes while calls to the sheriff's office failed to bring help the morning of Friday, Oct. 7.

Mendoca said he let the men go when help failed to arrive. The men were later picked up in Grass Valley, he said, but before he could swear out a warrant, they had been released.

Undersheriff Otois Hardt said the office log showed a call received at 3 a.m. the morning of Oct. 7, followed by a road block order.

Supervisor Carl J. Tobiassen, for many years sheriff prior to Hoskins' term, said "this administration is costing more money than any other sheriff's administration and we're getting less protection."

The supervisors voted to publish this meeting's proceedings in the Grass Valley Union for the second successive time. Supervisor Henry G. Loehr motioned the proceedings be published in the Truckee Sun but none of the other members seconded.

The board continued designating the Alta-Glen Ridge sanitary district Tuesday when it found more work was necessary by Ed Litke and his committee.

Litke presented a map showing the boundaries of the proposed district. T. S. Davey objected to calling an election claiming that property owners in the Town Talk area did not want in the district.

The board advised a delegation from the San Juan Ridge Water Users association to form a community organization to lease the French Corral schoolhouse. The board chairman, Warren Odell, said he thought the county ought to lease the schoolhouse to a community organization rather than to a private group.

The board passed a resolution concurring with Placer county on issuance and sale of $750,000 of bonds for the Tahoe-Truckee joint unified school district.

The board transferred funds from the general reserve to the school districts to enable the districts meet payroll and maintenance until state apportionment money is received.

MRS. REYNOLDS SUES FOUNDRY FOR $85,000

Mrs. Marvel F. Reynolds filed suit yesterday afternoon in Nevada county superior court asking $85,000 damages in a complaint action against R. R. Goyne, Mae C. Goyne, Roy Zimmerman, Lillian Zimmerman and the Miners Foundry & Manufacturing company, Nevada City.

Mrs. Reynolds, suing in behalf of her husband, B. W. Reynolds, charges in her complaint she had made an improvement on a juicer machine patented by her husband, and that the defendants adopted the improvement without her consent and refuse to pay her for the use of the improvement, and refuses to discontinue the use of the improvement.

Reynolds stated he had invented the juicer and had manufactured it for many years under the fictitious name of RYP in the bay area. Reynolds said upon removal to Nevada City he had contracted with the Miners Foundry for manufacture of the machine.

Mrs. Reynolds charges in her suit the defendants gave her a written order for manufacture of five juicer machines incorporating the improvement and with the promise of introducing into the trade of vegetable and fruit juicing machines, the improvement.

Mrs. Reynolds states the defendants later returned the machines declaring the improvement unworkable.

Mrs. Reynolds charges the Miners Foundry began to manufacture the juicers with the improvement, without remuneration, contract, and consent.

Mrs. Reynolds also charges the foundry turned down an order for machines that would have given her a royalty of $16,000.

Mrs. Reynolds finally charges the foundry with destroying the business for this improved juicer.

Mrs. Reynolds asks the damages on the basis of $35,000 actual damages and $50,000 in prospective losses during the next two years.

Albert L. Johnson, Nevada City, is attorney for plaintiff.

CEDAR THEATRE HOPES TO OPEN SHOWHOUSE FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25

Jack Keegan, manager of the Naify chain of theatres for this area, announced last night upon his return from San Francisco, the Cedar theatre hopes to open its doors Friday, Nov. 25.

Keegan had been in conference with the San Francisco offices of the organization most of the week and returned to Nevada county late yesterday.

Keegan said opening night picture has not definitely been selected but he did say it would be one of the best and one of the latest.

Keegan doubted very much whether any film luminaries of Hollywood would be present unless the cast of "The Outrage" is still on location in the Marysville area. Keegan explained that the theatre chain has opened 17 new film palaces lately and the trend has been away from having film stars in attendance.

Installation of projection machinery and other equipment is slated to start Monday.

The theatre will seat 650 patrons.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel of the Holmes Funeral Home for Russell Wilson, 45, deputy county clerk of Nevada county, who died Tuesday morning at Miners hospital following a heart attack. Interment will be in the Odd Fellows cemetery of Grass Valley.

He was born in Grass Valley in 1904 and was graduated from Grass Valley high school. Following his schooling he worked for many years as a hoisting engineer at the New Brunswick mine.

Following a short retirement because of illness, Wilson was appointed to the courthouse position on Dec. 1, 1948. Our contacts with Wilson found him efficient, courteous and friendly.

Wilson was an honorary member of Reliance Fire company of Grass Valley.

Clerk George Calanan pointed out chair could not second. Innis appointed Councilman William Mullis as temporary chairman.

A call for vote on the motion resulted in Taylor and Innis voting Aye. Councilman Leo Cullen voted no, and Councilman H. F. Sofge abstained.

SHERIFF'S POSSE READY FOR RAID BY SF INVADERS

Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins reported this morning he has received authoritative information from San Francisco that a gang of approximately 300 characters is planning to invade Nevada City tomorrow afternoon. Hoskins stated he has been informed that one of the ringleaders of the invaders has declared "we're coming up there and we're going to take the town apart."

Hoskins said he has taken necessary precautions to stop the invaders, having called out possemen, issued them ammunition and weapons, set up road blocks and a machine gun nest. He said the county has recently received a shipment of tear gas and it will be used if necessary.

All peace officers of the area have been alerted and armed and are ready for any emergency.

The officers report they have no inkling of the cause or reason of the invasion, although sidewalk observers have voiced the opinion it may be the result of recent state-wide notoriety of Nevada City on slot machines.

Robert Ryan, operator of the Naional hotel, says the only information he has of anybody arriving here is a delegation of Shriners who have scheduled a Jesters party at his hotel Saturday evening. He says he has no report of that group coming up here "to take the town apart."

Ryan said the Jesters will represent Shriners from San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, and other California communities.

The Shriners are having a 49er town party and using "13" as the party's theme.

The group will leave the bay city in a chartered bus at 9:13 a.m., arrive in Nevada iCty at 1:13 p.m., and have a cocktail hour at 5:13 with the banquet at 7:13 p.m.

Local groups are planning a royal welcome for the visitors.

BALLOT RECOMMENDATIONS

Proposition 1 is a proposed new section to Article XVI of the state constitution and provides for issuance and sale of $250,000,000 of state bonds for providing loans and grants to school districts.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote on proposition 1. Too many of our schools are overcrowded—the state average increase in school enrollment from 1940 to 1948 is 35 per cent and in five years more it is expected to be about 200 percent over 1940. The Nevada City elementary school has a current enrollment of 577 in a plant built to accommodate 500. The high school is in better shape with a 200 enrollment in a plant that will accommodate 300. But before those figures make you complacent about the critical state-wide school buildings need—remember this—the full impact of greatly expanded school enrollment caused by the emigration into the state and the bumper crop of babies of the past decade will not hit the high school for another three or four years—and when that happens the high school plant will be inadequate. Nevada City district is financially able to bond itself to take care of the next few years—but if a unified high school district is formed—Proposition 1 would come to the aid of the district. The need is definite now in the major part of the state. Many schools districts now exist where ten years ago only grassland and jackrabbits were.

Opponents to the proposition point out that small districts that should be progressive and unify or consolidate will by means of this proposition build school facilities that will be obsolete and inadequate before the last nail is driven home. The inefficient and inadequate we will have with us always. The greatest good for the greatest number should be the determining factor. California needs expansion of school facilities now and in the future. Vote YES for proposition 1.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote for proposition 2. It is our belief that George McLain is a crackpot demagogue preying on the unfortunate and that any government department or agency should be removed from his and his ilk influence. We regret the proposition does not retain administration of the welfare program by the state—county government is destroying itself by its inefficiency. Proposition 2 retains the assistance payments at the current levels and puts it under the control of the legislature—the duly elected representatives of the people. We believe the state should take over all welfare function. The present set-up operated partly by the state and partly by the county is draining the financial resources of the state. In Nevada county, for instance, the welfare functions of the county was administered by a staff of nine. Today the county welfare staff has three members and the state has ten for a total of 13. Another bad feature of Article XXV was the lack of control by the governor, legislature or the controller of the administration by the director of the state department of social welfare.

Opponents of proposition 2 claim repealers and organizations for repeal are false fronts for big business and the California state chamber of commerce—if that is a crime. Opponents claim that Mrs. G. W. Luhr, wife of an official of the Southern Pacific railroad, is using the California Parent-Teachers association as a tool for her husband's company. Opponents claim the present law saved the county taxpayers $21,000,000, but the average taxpayer is not consoled by relief of a tax by one agency only to have another agency collect it and more. Vote YES on proposition 2.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote on proposition 3. The proposition raises the pay of a legislator from a "token" $100 a month to $300 a month. Although still wholly inadequate it is a step in the right direction. The proposition also limits the length of general and budget sessions requiring the legislature to get down to business earlier than the present practice. We believe our Art Samishes will not be eliminated from state government until we make it worthwhile for a man to make a lifetime career of serving his state as a legislator. Vote YES on Proposition 3.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote on proposition 5. This proposition would repeal an obsolete section of the constitution pertaining to per diem payments of delegates to the state constitutional convention of 1878-79. Inasmuch as probably all delegates are now dead a YES vote will remove this useless section.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote on proposition 6. The proposal repeals a section of the constitution which is also obsolete, as in proposition 5. It repeals section 1a of Article IV adopted in 1933 which states the effective date of statutes enacted at the 1933 regular session of the legislature as 90 days after adjournment. With 16 years passed by we believe it is safe to remove the obsolete section. Vote YES.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote on proposition 7. This proposition would also repeal the following obsolete matters: exemption from taxation of the Golden Gate international exposition of 1939; relief of taxpayers of Los Angeles and Orange counties for the year 1933 who had property destroyed in the earthquake of March 10, 1933; setting of Jan. 1, 1935, as operative date of the Riley-Stewart tax plan; obsolete portions of the Riley-Stewart tax plan pertaining to insurance companies; and an obsolete sections dealing with bank and corporation taxes inoperative since Jan. 1, 1935. Vote YES.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote on proposition 8. This proposition repeals an amendment establishing the Panama-Pacific exposition of 1915, and increases legislative control of state welfare program. Vote YES.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote on proposition 9. This proposal repeals the method prescribed by the constitution convention of 1879 for submission of said constitution to the people of California. After 70 years of obsolescence it can safely be repealed. Vote YES.

The Nugget recommends a YES vote on proposition 10. This proposition will repeal section 26a of Article I of Assembly Constitutional Amendment 72 setting the effective date of two initiative measures never approved by the people and as a result was never used and never can be. Vote YES.

Why propositions 4 through 10 were never acted upon before is amazing.

The Nugget recommends a NO vote on proposition 11. This measure repeals additional obsolete sections of the constitution but makes the mistake of deleting provision for time of election of Superintendent of Public Instruction. This measure should correct this error before being approved by the voters. Vote NO on 11.

The Nugget recommends a NO vote on proposition 12. This proposition establishes daylight saving time from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in September. Besides California's time would be out of step with the rest of the nation and with railroads, airlines and steamship departures. Sun time was good enough for grandpappy and, by gum, it's good enough for us. Vote NO.

TELEPHONE COMPANY SURVEYING DISTRICT

Following the filing with the public utilities commission by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company for its report on the study of possible extended service in the Nevada City and Grass Valley area, E. R. Ingalls, manager of the company, announced a survey is being undertaken to determine the views and desires of residents of the area for extended service.

Civic groups and individuals are now being contacted by telephone company representatives to determine their desires with respect to such an extended service plan.

Extended service, Ingalls explained, would permit Nevada City and Grass Valley telephone subscribers to place calls from one exchange to the other without the payment of a toll charge, but at an increase monthly rate for telephone service.

The present toll rate for a station call between the two cities is 10 cents for the first three minutes and the rate for a person call is 30 cents for the initial period of three minutes. With extended service the toll charge would be eliminated.

Ingalls said exchange rates under the new plan for principal classes of service are as follows:

	Extended Service	Present
Individual business	$5.75	$8.00
Two-party business	4.75	6.25
Individual residence	3.75	4.50
2-party residence	3.25	3.75
4-party residence	2.75	3.25

Ingalls said that in order to provide extended service additions to the present telephone facilities amounting to some $33,000 would be required with a resulting increase in annual operating costs of about $5,100. The rates proposed for this service would result in increased annual revenues of about $35,000 which would approximately offset the additional cost of $5,100 and the revenue loss of $31,000 resulting from the elimination of the toll charge.

In view of the expressed interest in extended service in the Nevada City-Grass Valley area, the company recommended in its report to the public utilities commission that the public survey to determine the views and desires for the service be completed before any further action is taken and that the matter then be reviewed with the commission as to possible further action.

YELLOWJACKET BUZZINGS

By DARLEEN CROWLEY

NEWS OF NEVADA CITY HIGH SCHOOL

The school had the privilege of seeing an outstanding program given by the Placer union high school yesterday. A wonderful program consisting of dancing, singing, a spectacular orchestra and more talent than I could ever mention. The program lasted from 12:40 to 1:30. The assembly was enjoyed more than any previous essembly given for a long time.

The Junior Red Cross fund began at the high school yesterday.

There was a D basketball game held in the high school auditorium Tuesday after school with Roseville.

At a special meeting Tuesday morning of the freshmen class, Ann Coughlin was elected secretary to fill the place vacated by Tony Williams.

The entire high school student body wishes to extend deepest sympathy on hearing of the passing of Russell Wilson, father of Elizabeth Wilson, secretary of the high school student body. Mr. Wilson died Tuesday morning.

The Yellowjackets lost to the Marysville Indians 21-13 Friday. Coach Bob Bonner's junior varsity team lost to Marysville 48-0. Tomorrow Nevada iCty will play the Placer high school at Hennessy field. There was a big pep rally Friday afternoon in the high school auditorium.

The crafts class, taught by Mr. Warren Immel will begin making Christmas presents as soon as the big order they sent for arrives. In the meantime the leather class is finishing purses, billfolds and various other things. There are also clay and copper worls that are really turning out beautiful.

In Mr. Immel's art class he is having the students use their imagination in drawing some modern art. And some of them are really good.

In homemaking I, Mrs. Newby told her class they would begin a unif on child-care, as soon as they finish the present project of making aprons. The aprons are to be used later on in the year when the class takes up cooking. To start the child care unit, Mr. Emmett Gallagher of the Save-More Variety store has donated a beautiful doll, the size of a one-year old baby. The class is going to make a wardrobe for the doll. As each thing is made, it will be placed on display with the doll in the window of the Save-More variety store. Everyone is very excited about the doll. And the entire homemaking I class wants to thank Mr. Gallagher for his contribution of the doll to the class.

Mr. William Tobiassen received some new Christmas music last Friday and he really has some beautiful arrangements this year. The class will start rehearsing right away to get ready for the yearly Christmas program presented at the high school.

The high school PTA membership drive is starting this week under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ted Sigourney and committee members, Mrs. Roy Larson, Mrs. T. Nelson and Mrs. H. Scribner. Come on now, parents, let's make it a 100 percent drive for the high school this year.

The big Amazon dance committee was chosen. Heading committees are Pat Foote, refreshments; JoAnn Waechter, decorating; Ann Coughlin, clean-up; and Abby Salter, publicity.

The whole high school was pleased to hear the San Francisco Examiner had named Dick Penrose "Prep of the Week."

Mr. Immel's English class is taking up proper proceedings for carrying on freshman class meetings correctly so that when they become seniors they'll know all about carrying on their meetings.

Cartwright Urges Yes Vote on 2 to Soroptimist Club

"What happens to the $4,000 a day that the aged members of George H. McLain's pension machine pours into his coffers at the Citizens Committee for Old Age Pensions in Los Angeles?

That was the question posed before the Nevada County Soroptimists club at luncheon Wednesday at the National hotel by Jack Cartwright, former assistant director of the State Department of Social Welfare and veteran newspaperman and magazine writer.

The speaker, introduced by Mrs. Dorothy Randolph, chairman for the day, urged a Yes vote on Proposition 2 on next Tuesday's special election ballot and told the gathering that they must help get out a Yes vote to smash the McLain pension scheme which he said, "has now become the McLain political machine."

He pointed out that based on the testimony of McLain's own bookkeepers before the Senate interim committee investigating the State Department of Social Welfare, McLain has been taking in $120,000 a month in contributions from poor, deluded and bewildered elderly people whom he frightens into sending in money to him with the use of false claims and fear tactics on his radio broadcasts.

He likened the McLain political machine to a Frankenstein monster which has grown from a falsely presented benign organization to help the old folks to a dictatorship in social welfare similar to the dictatorships of Hitler, Mussolini and Huey Long.

In addition he said, "Both McLain and Myrtle Williams, McLain's director of social welfare, who slipped into office under provisions of Proposition 4 passed last year, own the Williams Advertising Agency. This agency has spent more than $130,000 of the old folks money on radio time and newspaper advertising since Nov. 10, 1948," he said. "Commissions on this amount total some $22,000."

"Now—," he went on, "I would like to ask George McLain and Myrtle Williams if it did not go into their pockets? If not, where did it go? McLain and Mrs. Williams, her fingers dripping with costly diamonds, are the sole owners of the Williams Advertising Agency which spends the old folks contributions to McLain's pension scheme."

He further charged that McLain had operated a "macabre racket" in selling burial insurance policies to the old folks who had been "deluded into joining McLain's organization."

"For McLain to take a commission from the sale of such burial policies to these poor elderly citizens of ours is like stealing pennies, nickels and dimes off the coffins of those aged people who die," he charged. "It is the most ghastly thing I have ever heard of in 20 years of newspaper and public relations work."

"There is only one way to eliminate this grasping, greedy machine headed by McLain and to sweep out of office a woman who has no qualifications whatever to draw a salary of $12,000 a year as director of social welfare," he said. "You must all go out and vote Yes on Proposition 2, Nov. 8, next Tuesday—and get all your friends out to vote the same way."

In a question and answer period at the close of his talk he proved that Proposition 2 does not decrease the amount of pensions but retains the exact same amounts, $75 a month for the aged and $85 a month for the blind. In addition, he pointed out, Governor Warren has signed a legislative measure that also retains these same payments, $75 and $85.

PROPOSITION 2 will maintain the $10 cost-of-living increase the voters granted the needy aged and blind last year. By repealing the "fine-print" provisions of the notorious McLain Scheme, it will reduce the staggering cost of pension administration!

WHO PAYS FOR THE SUPER-COSTLY McLAIN SCHEME? YOU PAY!

Already, the sales tax—the tax that bears heaviest on the working man—has increased 20 per cent! Yet there still isn't enough money in the State Treasury to pay for school needs and other State services!

To continue to finance the McLain Scheme, new sources of tax revenue would have to be tapped. One likely source is a new property tax on every homeowner in the State!

There is no need for this back-breaking tax waste! California can afford an adequate program for schools and other services and a generous pension program, too—if soundly administered!
